

Few actions by State governments have been as popular as Indiana's no-call list for telemarketers. Our phone calls from telemarketers has all but disappeared. I feel political recordings should be added to the no-call list as well. If the FCC is going to get involved in this issue, future rules and regulations should strengthen, not weaken, the privacy protection Indiana's law already provides.
Larry Stamm, Teacher (retired)